Common factors in new cases this week: Household contacts developing the disease. If you choose to participate in high risk activities such as visiting crowded indoor locations, consider who you may expose at home and at work.

Reduce risk by maintaining a 6 ft distance from others, wear a face mask according to the state order and continue to follow disinfection practices.