Common factors in new cases this week: Household contacts developing the disease and people who spent time at indoor crowded places.

Reduce your risk and avoid quarantine by maintaining a 6 ft distance from others, wear a face mask according to the state order, and continue to follow disinfection practices.