With over 10 miles of scenic trails covering a breathtaking variety of white-frosted landscapes, the Douglas County Forest offers cross-country skiers an excellent opportunity to experience true northwoods beauty and solitude during the winter season.

From young successional forests to older stands of dense timber, there’s nothing quite like the sensation of silently gliding along forested trails covered in a fresh blanket of snow. Cross-country skiing can ease your mind, condition your body, and provides a great aerobic workout far from the confines of a gym.

Whether you’re looking to get outside and do something fun for the whole family during those “cabin fever” months or you consider yourself a devoted nordic enthusiast, you’ll be sure to find the type of skiing adventure you’re looking for.

Maintenance and Grooming Activities
Trail maintenance and signage are completed by Douglas County Forestry Department staff and equipment. Under adequate snow conditions, trail grooming is typically completed once a week or biweekly where a single classic track is set. Grooming frequency is very weather and snow condition dependent and the grooming schedule can frequently change throughout the season.

Users are reminded that although trails may be open, conditions can significantly change in very little time. Even the most ideal trail conditions can be quickly degraded by usage and/or weather influences.

Donations
Monetary donations are graciously accepted to assist with trail maintenance and grooming activities. Contact the Forestry Department for further information. Thank you for supporting your ski trail system!
